Lower School scholars will have the opportunity to draw, paint, or sketch a picture depicting Attorney Cochran’s image. The most innovative and creative art piece will win first place. There will also be a second and third place prize. Upper School scholars will do the same, as well as add an essay to their artistic design called “The Art of Justice: What the Legacy of Johnnie L. Cochran, Jr. Means Today”.

The Cochran Firm Atlanta is excited to launch this venture with GIA and will accept entries until Friday, February 15th (submit entries to Mrs. Carswell). Winning entries will be announced on March 1, 2019 during GIA’s Black History Program. The winning art work and essay will proudly be displayed in the downtown office of The Cochran Firm Atlanta for all to see.
